

Head of Operations (m/f)

ABOUT US

Fluid Logistics, a leader in a unique and innovative technological field, is a young, fast-growing start-up with a solid financial foundation.

We are in high demand in the automotive and logistics industries, especially in the production phase. We aim to further develop our technology and establish our company as a market leader.

WHO WE ARE LOOKING FOR

You are a good match for us if you are a team player, flexible, self-reliant and highly motivated. We have a highly efficient organizational structure, short decision-making paths and a fast work pace. We also take into account and promote the personal and professional development of all team members. You can expect interesting and challenging tasks in a highly diverse working environment in the greater Frankfurt area.

Head of Operations (m/f) fulltime in Darmstadt and Suhl

Your responsibilities:

- Shaping the Company Strategy as part of the management team (direct report to CEO) especially regarding production, installation and service issues
- Develop outsourcing concepts, identify partners with focus on China, implement new supply chains and vendor management
- Responsible for cost-down progress
- Project management of all involved stakeholders (R&D, Engineering, Procurement)

Your profile:

- University - master's degree e.g. mechanical engineering
- 7-10 years of professional experience
- Experienced in leadership, product management and outsourcing
- Flexible, stress resistance and able to produce under pressure
- Fluent in English
- Good command of German

Why join fluidlogistics

- A fast-growing company with unique technology
- Flat hierarchies
- Great personal growth potential
- Competitive salary and flexible working hours with home office option
- High team morale and regular events
- You can make a decisive contribution to our success story

If you would like to be part of our team, apply now by sending an e-mail with your resume to career@fluidlogistics.com